I Have

A COMPLETE STOCK OF

WALL PAPER, WIRE CLOTH, POULTRY NETTING, SCREEN DOORS, WIRE Fence, Roofing, Spring Hinges, Sash Hangers, Door Pulls, Screen Door Catches, Window Screens, Ice Cream Freezers, Refrigerators, Garden Hoes, Rakes Shovels, Manure Forks, Wheelbarrows, Snaths, Haying Tools, Lawn Mowers, Grass Hooks, Grass Shears AT BOTTOM PRICES. - - -

JOHN A. HOBSON,

Greensburg, Ky.

Fifth Avenue Hotel,

PIKE CAMPBELL, MGR.

Refurnished, Redecorated, and Remodled. A First-class Hotel at Popular Prices. Convenient to Wholesale and Retail Districts, Churches and Theaters. . . . . .

"FIFTH AVENUE" LOUISVILLE.

FIFTH AVENUE, BET GREEN AND WALNUT STREETS.

Louisville, - - - Kentucky.

The Louisville Trust Company

Southwest Corner Fifth and Market

LOUISVILLE

Organized under a special charter for the safe keeping of valuables of every kind and description, and the transaction of a general trust business, is authorized to act in any part of the State as Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Guardian, Assignee, Receiver, and to fill every position of trust that can be held by an individual.

It accepts and executes trusts of varied character, and its fair, impartial and profitable management is guaranteed by its large assets, its corporate property, its magnificent fireproof office building and its great financial strength.

Dr. James Menzies,

OSTEOPATHY

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE

Office AT RESIDENCE

Columbia, Kentucky.

The Campbellsville Machine Shop

Handles HEAVY and LIGHT WORK; Boilers Remodled and all Boiler Repairs made. Heavy and Light FORGING of all kinds done. ENGINES and OTHER MACHINERY REBUILT. Work is done by Mechanics Who Know How. Try us.

Campbellsville, :: :: :: Kentucky.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

How many of our boys of to day know when and where the star-spangled banner was first raised and that the honor belongs to New York State? How it was made, and under what circumstances. Tom Fodick, a drummer boy of old Fort Stanwix, which stood near the site of the city of Rome, N. Y., tells us:

"On August 3. 1777, the first day we were assigned, the need of a flag to fly from our bastions caused Col. Gansevoort, our commander, to call me to him saying, "Tom, my boy, we must have a banner to fight under. I have, in a copy of the Philadelphia Gazette, a full description of the new standard for the United States as ordered by the Congress last June; so hunt around and do your best to find something—anything, red, white and blue—that can be sown together, and we'll show the enemy a banner that will tell them we are a new nation, with colors of our own; a banner that we won't haul down, my lad, while there's one of us left to defend it."

"With this command, I rushed around, ransacking the barracks and storerooms, finaly securing a couple of white ammunition shirts and an old red cloth petticoat from the wife of one of our soldiers; but nothing blue could I find. Running back with my store materials, I showed them to the colonel, telling him that I lacked the blue. Captain Swartout, standing nearby, said, I can furnish that and going to his quarters quickly returned with a cloak of the right color, which he had captured at Peekskill. At once the stripes and field were cut a paper pattern made the stars and in a short time our patchwork flag was put together. What mattered it if the red was somewhat faded in places, or that the seams were rough and uneven, the "Stars and Stripes, were there, and by sunset we were ready to unfurl our home-made standard to encourage us in our defense.

"Ezra James. my fellow drummer, and I, beat the long roll, and at the word of command the sergeant pulled the halyards while, saluted by the officers, and cheered by the garrison, up went our flag to the top of the staff. Ezra and I put our whole hearts into the beats we gave our drums, and never will I forget the delight I felt at seeing how brave and beautiful that first edition of our nation's flag looked as the breeze caught its folds, whipping it out in graceful curves like a thing alive"—Ex.

BOYS TO AVOID.

Avoid the boy who lies.

The boy who "bullies."

The boy who kills insects and birds.

The boy who plays "hookie."

The boy who can't listen.

The boy who drifts.

The boy who laughs at the weakness of another.

The boy who "never takes a dare."

The boy, big or little, who smokes cigarettes.

The boy who likes to hear himself talk.

The boy who speaks disrespectfully to Any girl or woman.

The boy who thinks all girls are "struck on him."

The boy who spends his "off" hours In foolery and big talk

The boy who pulls faces at the clock behind his employer's back.

The boy who is afraid to obey his mother when in the company of other boys.

The boy, young or old, who wears tailor made clothes to hide hand-me-down ideas.

The boy who is "White Headed Willie" in the company of girls and "Grumpy Goldarn" in his own home.

The boy who has time for everybody and everybody but the comfort of his home and mother.

The boy who spends his money on selfish pleasure while his mother or his father needs his assistance.

The boy who boasts of not having been inside a church for so many years.

The boy who neglects to write to his mother.—By Hank Reklaw.

READY TO HAIL MARS.

Nikola Tesla announces that with the co-operation of power producting companies at Niagara Falls, he is preparing to hail Mars with Niagara's voice. A way has been found at last for transmitting a wireless message across the gulf, varying from 40,000,000 to 100,000,000 miles, which separates this earth from Mars.

Once that has been accomplished and Mars, which is considerably elder and supposedly more advanced in science than we, has acknowledged the receipt of our signal and sent back flash for flash, it will remain to devise and interplanetary code through the medium of which the scientists of this world and of Mars will be able to understand what each is saying to the other.

Mr. Tesla has been quickly working for several years on a wireless power plant capable of transmitting 10,000 horse power to any part of the world or to any of our neighboring planets. The mere matter of distance between dispatching and receiving points is no object whatever, Wireless power, Mr. Tesla says, may be sent one million or more miles just as easily as one mile.

Several of the electric power companies with immense generating plants at Niagara Falls have agreed to co-operate with Mr. Tesla in an effort to reach Mars by wireless.

FOR SALE.

A new 7 room, two-story residence, good well and all necessary outbuildings, in Columbia. See,

Geo. T. Flowers, Jr.

STATE NEWS.

Mrs. Susie Shultz, a bride of two months, was burned to death at Owensboro.

Wm. Beavers probably fatally cut Hubert Lewis in a fight in Washington county.

By a vote of 14 to 10 the ordinance fixing the saloon license in Louisville, at $500.

Gallatin county voted against saloons by a majority of 96, after a warm fight extending over several weeks.

While repairing a house in Frankfort Nita Singleton, a carpenter, fell from the building and broke his neck.

Four-year-old Claude Wheeler, of Booneville, Ind., fell into a kettle of boiling lard and died from the effects.

John Bennett, of Hart county, is the father of 25 childred. He has 100 great-grand-children, and is hale and hearty at 85 years.

J. N. Hubbard, of Carter county, a new witness, testified at Georgetown that he was told by Youtsey that he, Youtsey would kill Goebel.

Action is being taken in Tennessee to test the right of the State Fire Marshal to summon witnesses and compell them to testify during an investigation of fires.

The temporary plant of the Prestolite Co., in Indianapolis blew up. Elmer Jessup and John Vangorder were fatally hurt and O. H. Skinner was seriously injured.

Men in attendance at the conference of the tobacco situation generally express the opinion that the Governor's plan will have good results, even should a sale of the Burley crop in poo not be affected.

The two Normal Schools of Kentucky and the State College have united in their efforts to better the school system in Kentucky and also to build up a great State College. At a meeting of the regents legislation that will be asked at the next session of the General Assembly was agreed upon.

BOB TAYLOR ON GREED FOR GOLD

"The lust for gold and the hunger for power have ridden rough shod over liberty and law and hung their banners over every capital and every mart. The jingle of gold sounds even in the laughter of modern society, and the eyes of the church are jaundiced with it. We have become a nation of gold worshippers. I fear that if the American people in the present spirit were transplanted to the heaven above they would tear up the golden streets in three hours and levy a tax on the harps of the angels for the benefit of American industry."

Thus spoke United States Senator Robt. L. Taylor, of Tennessee, in a speech on "Greed for Gold," at the third annual dinner of the Tennessee society in New York Saturday night.